1. Definitions. As used in this section, unless the context otherwise indicates, the following terms have the following meanings.
   A. "Cellular telephone" means a device used to access a wireless telephone service.

2. Prominence of instructions. If a cellular telephone manufacturer includes safety notifications in its owner's manual, the cellular telephone manufacturer shall ensure that:
   A. The full language of the safety notifications is plainly visible on the outside of the product packaging; or
   B. A label is plainly visible on the outside of the product packaging alerting customers to the safety notifications. The body of the notice must be in letters not less than 1/16 inch in height. The initial words "SAFETY NOTICE" must appear in capital letters and in bold type at least 1/8 inch in height, followed by: "For the Safety of You and Your Family, Please Read Guidance for Use" and language directing consumers to the page or pages of the owner's manual or other insert where the safety notifications may be found.

3. Warning label required. A retailer of cellular telephones may not sell at retail in this State a cellular telephone unless the cellular telephone bears a warning label that is at least the size of the manufacturer's label on the device, is legible, is located in a prominent place that is conspicuous and not obscured by other written matter and contains the following statement:
   "This device emits radiofrequency electromagnetic fields. Avoid direct contact."

4. Safety notification label requirement. A retailer of cellular telephones may not sell at retail in this State a cellular telephone unless the requirements of subsection 2 are met.

'The World Health Organization, International Agency for Research on Cancer has classified radiofrequency electromagnetic fields as possibly carcinogenic to humans (Group 2B), based on an increased risk for glioma, a malignant type of brain cancer, associated with wireless phone use... This has relevance for public health, particularly for users of mobile phones, as the number of users is large and growing, particularly among young adults and children.' World Health Organization press release, May 31, 2011

2. Manufacturers' manuals provide guidance to avoid direct contact with head and body and commentary on ways to reduce excessive exposure, if you choose, such as:

   B. Keeping away from reproductive organs; and
   C. Operating with a wired headset."

7. Violation. A violation of this chapter is a violation of the Maine Unfair Trade Practices Act.

SUMMARY

This bill provides that a retailer may not sell at retail in this State a cellular telephone unless the cellular telephone and its packaging bear a warning label relating to the potential health effects associated with nonthermal effects of cellular telephone radiation. It requires the manufacturer of the cellular telephone to provide the warning labels to the retailer at no cost to the retailer. The bill also requires that any safety notification supplied by a cellular telephone manufacturer must have the language of the safety notification plainly visible on the outside of the product package or, if using a label, the label must be plainly visible on the outside of the package. This bill also requires the retailer to provide an information bulletin to the purchaser of a cellular telephone informing the purchaser of potential health risks associated with the use of cellular telephones. A violation of this provision is a violation of the Maine Unfair Trade Practices Act.
